We provide reinsurance for upstream and downstream energy as well as power generation utilities.

For upstream energy we will cover both exploration and production risks. We will consider all lines of coverage involved in these areas both onshore and offshore.

For downstream energy we are well positioned to underwrite property within the onshore energy and power sector taking in a broad range of occupancies and associated industries

Across both classes we are able to offer bespoke policies in the following sectors:

- Construction of offshore oil and gas facilities
- Exploration and production including all operational risks, business interruption and control of well
- Offshore third party liabilities
- Midstream transportation and processing infrastructure
- Refining, petrochemicals and related hydrocarbon assets
- Power generation and utilities

Engineers are an integral part of this underwriting team, offering extensive industrial experience and insight as well as technical support through desk-based reviews and site surveys.
